

ALL JOY WANTS ETERNITY

Myriam Thyes, 2018, HD video in portrait format, 15:20, loop, stereo.

The surfaces of various pinball machines (which often look rather „baroque“) are filmed with cameras attached to pinball gamblers. This way, you watch the blinking field through cameras which adopt the typical (sometimes erotic) movements of the players. Pinball machines are shiny and colorful, thus reminding jewel boxes, vitrines, showcases. The video is edited in a way the ball always remains visible, never disappearing from the field. The game never ends - because „all joy wants eternity“ (Friedrich Nietzsche).
With thanks to: Flippermuseum Schwerin, Arne Hennes, Anne-Kathrin Auel, Ulf Michaelis.

Installation: HD projection or HD flatscreen, upright size (if possible on a slightly slanting surface at about 1 m high, like a pinball machine). Looping HD video on (for example Raspberry Pi) media player, HDMI cable, stereo loudspeakers. Dimensions: about 90 cm wide and 160 cm high.

www.thyes.com/video/alle-lust-will-ewigkeit/index.html